The Children's Corner

The Lily of the Valley

A lovely lady told to me
This story of the lily of the valley.
You've picked them too, down in the valley.

A fairy mamma gave the lily
And said, "My darling, go and fill
The little pails 'ere it's too late."

"I want the pails all full of dew
Cool and sparkling, fairies mine,
Now run along for you must work
Before the sun begins to shine."

The fairies took their ivory pails
And started out to get the dew.
How sweet they looked in dresses
green,

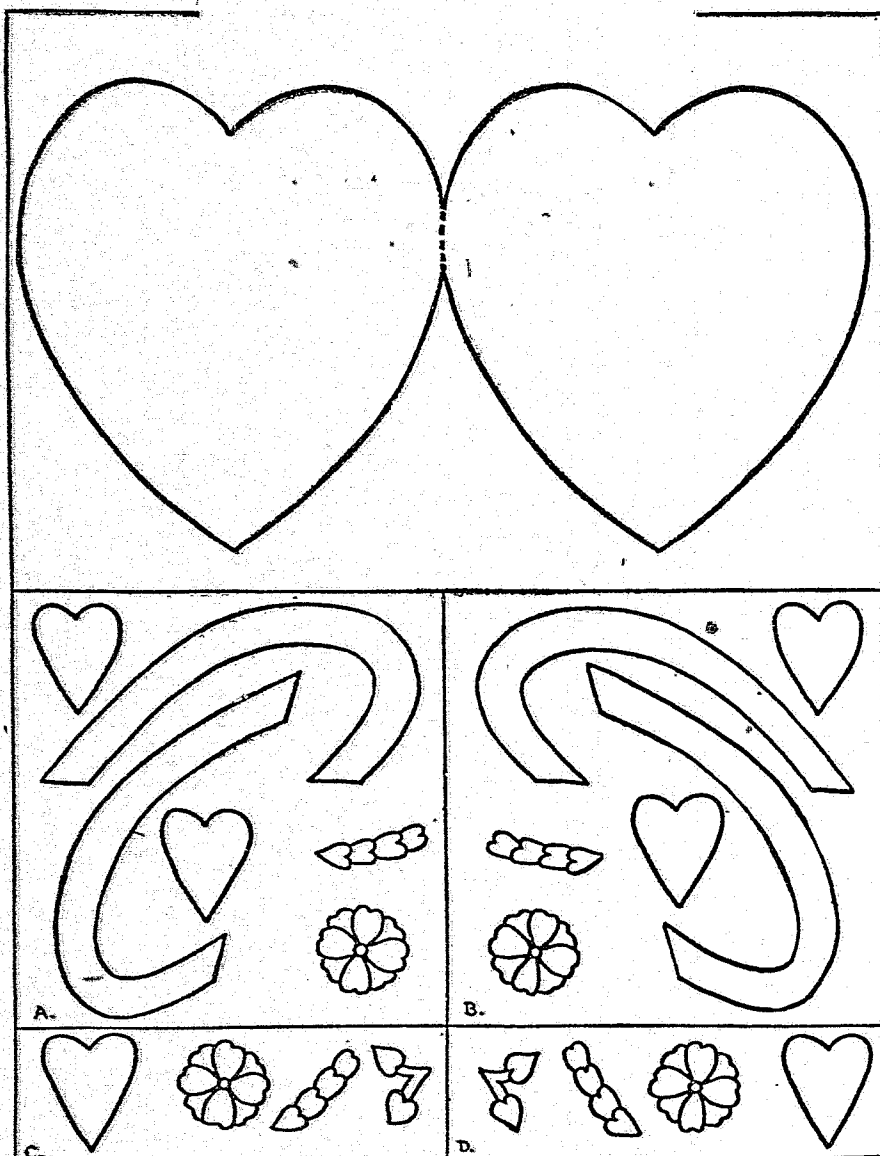

And white and pink and buff and blue.
They skipped along, they sang, they danced,

They hung their ivory buckets high,
On a long grass blade in a row.
The sun came up and winked his eye.
He dried up every drop of dew.
Before the fairies stopped their play,
Then they were sorry as could be
That they could get no dew that day.

The fairies ran back home and told
Their fairy mamma what they'd done.
"We played and played 'till we forgot
We quite forgot about the sun.
We're very sorry, mamma dear,
Tomorrow morn' we'll early go
And get the dew, we left our pails
All on a grass blade in a row."

Now when the fairies went next morn
At daylight, 'twas an early hour,
They found their buckets upside down,
And turned into a graceful flower.
A lily of the valley fair,
With white bells hanging in a row,
Their charming fragrance fills the air,
As they swing gently to and fro.

Hallowe'en Recipes

Prepare for the Party

The Hallowe'en luncheon is one of the simplest holiday meals of the year. Furthermore, it is one of the most healthful, as it calls for fruit in abundance—which assures a proper balance. Serve usual and attractive foods on Hallowe'en. Nothing elaborate is needed—but something "different" is demanded.

Candied Apples
Bobbing for apples and other traditional Hallowe'en sports may be denied to the child whose home is a city apartment, but at least he can be granted the privilege of making candied apples, the accepted confection of the Hallowe'en season.

Sticks which are inserted in the apples and used as handles can be procured at any household supply store, and the glass which is used for the apples is so simple to make that a child can do it without assistance.

To three cups of sugar, either brown or white, add one-half teaspoon of ginger, one-half teaspoon of cinnamon and one cup of water. Heat over a low fire, stirring until sugar is dissolved, then boil for about seven minutes or until the syrup will form a solid ball when dropped in cold water. Let the syrup cool slightly, then insert sticks in the blossom end of apples, submerge them in the syrup and set on buttered platter to harden.

After one layer of the syrup has hardened, the apples can be dipped again in the thick coating of mixture. The syrup should be cooked in a small, deep pan, such as the top of a double boiler, so the syrup will be deep enough to cover the apples.

Orange Goblins
For each person served, allow 1 large orange; 1-3 of an apple, diced; 1 tablespoon shredded dates; 1 tablespoon chopped walnuts; 2 tablespoons chopped celery; 2 tablespoons mayonnaise blended with 2 teaspoons orange juice.

Cut tops off oranges. Remove pulp with a sharp knife. Save juice to blend with mayonnaise. Draw a goblin face in each orange shell with India ink. Combine orange pulp with other ingredients. Remove to orange shells. Cover with orange top. Serve on individual, dolly-covered plates.

Sovereign Spice Cake
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons combination baking powder
1-3/4 teaspoon salt
1-3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1-4 teaspoon cloves
1-4 teaspoon nutmeg
1-4 teaspoon allspice
1-2 teaspoon sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup milk
1 cup heavy cream

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and spices, and sift together three times. Sift sugar and add gradually to eggs, beating well. Combine milk and cream. Add flour alternately with liquid, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Bake in greased pan, 8x8x2 inches, in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes, or until done. Cool. Spread raisin nut filling on top of cake.

Raisin Nut Filling
3-4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 tablespoons butter
1-4 cup water
3-4 cup walnut meats, broken and toasted
3-4 cup seeded raisins, cut in pieces
2 tablespoons cream or rich milk (about)

Heat sugar, butter, and water in skillet, and cook until mixture forms a soft ball in cold water (236 degrees F.). Remove from fire; add nuts and raisins. Add cream until of right consistency to spread. Makes enough filling for two 9-inch layers, or for top of 8x8 inch cake.

LISTENING PUBLIC REGULATES RADIO
In an address before the Advertising Club of Boston, John Elwood of the National Broadcasting Co., cast some light on the confusing problem of what type of radio program is most desirable.

"We are frequently asked by radio advertisers just what is the best kind of radio program," said Mr. Elwood. "I wish that I could answer that question with one simple phrase. There are people who like jazz. There are those who like educational programs. There are those who like to hear news. And there are those who like to hear a good story. It is the duty of the radio advertiser to know his audience and to give them what they want."
